

James Tatum Art Classes

Landscape as Power and Emotion Art Classes with James Tatum I am running a series of art classes throughout 2019. In teaching landscape painting, I am interested in removing artist's inhibitions about risk taking in order to make dynamic and physically exciting paintings. My teaching is all about finding the expressive artist within you by experimenting with new ideas and processes. In the end, it is about finding that fine balance between what you see and what you feel.
